Regulatory Requirements and Diligence around Protection of Water Quality & Fish Habitat

Protection of water quality and fish habitat are two of the forest management objectives identified in the Private Managed Forest Land Act.

The Private Managed Forest Land Council Regulation (Council Regulation) provides clear requirements for owners, contractors, employees, and agents with respect to these objectives. The requirements focus on stream classification, practices related to protecting water quality for human consumption, and retention of streamside trees and vegetation to protect drinking water and fish habitat.

MF Owners and those who work for them are expected to meet the standards and outcomes described in the Council regulation by applying sound judgement and well-established work practices.

Read our blog post for information and resources on regulatory requirements and field practices.

What is the Difference between the MF Council & the Private Forest Landowners Association (PFLA)?

In the past there has been some confusion between the two organizations that have been key to the Managed Forest Program in BC. We think this has lessened over the past few years. In case questions remain, here is a summary of the roles and mandates of the two organizations:

The MF Council is BC's independent agency responsible for administering the Private Managed Forest Land Act and regulations. The MF Council mandate is to encourage and regulate forest management practices on private managed forest land in BC including the protection of key public environmental values.

See the MF Council website here.

The PFLA is a non-profit organization that exists to promote the interests of private forest owners and promotes responsible stewardship on BC's private forest lands. The PFLA's primary activities are advocacy and education. Members join to receive the benefits associated with belonging to the group.

See the PFLA website here.
